1. A Czech military training camp located in the vicinity of Mimon (051/F95) covers an area 35 km in length by 30 km in width. This area is surrounded partly by barbed wire and partly by a wooden fence. The camp is used to train infantry, artillery, engineering and parachute troops. Since October 1950 all the training officers have been Russians and all units have been organized according to the Soviet pattern. Length of training varies from a three to six-week course to a two-year training program.

This document is hereby regraded to CONFIDENTIAL in accordance with the letter of 16 October 1978 from the Director of Central Intelligence to the Archivist of the United States.
